Marten House Hotel and
Lilly Conference Center
Indianapolis

Communities throughout Indiana and across the nation are making themselves healthier, more attractive to residents and visitors, and economically stronger by increasing walkability.

The first Indiana Walk Summit will share best practices, model policies, and tools and resources to help all Hoosier communities, regardless of size or setting, create more walkable communities.

The event consists of workshops on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 27 ($25), and a full-day conference on Thursday, August 28 ($85).
